LAWYERS ARGUE AS LEMBKE SUIT STARTS 4TH DAY

Stubborn Legal Battle In Simon Company Stockholder's Claim Against Bank

The circuit court case of William Lembke vs. the First National bank of Appleton, R. S. Powell et al, which has now reached its fourth day of trial, has resolved itself into a battle of technicalities.

Opposing attorneys are fighting their case point by point almost entirely on technical ground. Testimony of practically every witness has been interrupted frequently by attorneys to dispute its legality. These interruptions often resulted in arguments between attorneys before the court. Judge Edgar V. Verner was constantly appealing to for rulings on objections and motions to throw out parts of testimony.

Thus far with one exception only witnesses for the plaintiff have been on the stand. The defense was permitted to introduce one witness out of the regular order, and Mr. Powell was called to the stand as an adverse witness by the plaintiff. Council for plaintiff having not yet rested its case Wednesday evening, there were no signs of the suit reaching an early conclusion.

POWELL ON STAND
Mr. Powell was under examination all of Wednesday morning and a part of the afternoon, but at no time in his testimony did he admit to giving anyone actual advice on the purchase of stock in the N. Simon Cheese company.

This is one of the major issues in the case, as Lembke asserts in his petition to recover $51,500 that he purchased that amount of stock in the cheese company upon recommendations made to him by First National bank officials.

The defendant was questioned repeatedly as to whether he had been requested by prospective stockholders for an opinion on the reliability of the cheese company and its stock. He was asked if he had not given favorable opinions of the company's financial standing to Martin Turkow, William Knapstein, William Merkl and a man named Turtin. The defendant declared he did not remember having given any one of them an opinion of the cheese company.

"If he says so," Mr. Powell testified with reference to an interview on the subject with Knapstein, "I believe it must be true, for I don't think he would say so if it were not true."

"If he says so," he repeated in answer to a question as to whether he had told Merkl that the N. Simon Cheese company was in good financial standing, "I presume that's what I told him, for that is what I believed."

CALL FOUR WITNESSES
Four other witnesses all of them stockholders in the now insolvent cheese company, were introduced by the plaintiff's attorneys, C. E. Carpenter, Chicago, and Clifford Williams, Milwaukee.

John Hanks, a railroad employee, said he had gone to the bank and had a talk with Powell as to the reliability of the cheese company stock. "I don't remember the exact words," he testified, "but he told me that the stock was a good investment."

"And did you buy your stock on the strength of what he told you?" Attorney Carpenter continued.

The question was objected to by Attorney V. L. Minahan, counsel for the bank, and the objection was sustained by the court.

Similar testimony on an opinion which Otto Brass, cheese storekeeper and cheese factory proprietor said he had obtained from Mr. Powell in a telephone conversation, was upon motion of Mr. Minahan ordered stricken out when it transpired that Brass had no direct conversation with Powell but that a man named Frosser had done the talking for him.

RULE OUT CONVERSATION
George M. Hermesen, Kimberly grocer, testified he had been approached by Turtin to buy stock and was advised by him to see Powell, but that he (Hermesen) did not call on the banker relative thereto. He said, however, that he had an interview with H. W. Tuttrup of the First Trust company. This, he said, was in March, 1922. The nature of the conversation was barred, however, from testimony. When the plaintiff's attorney maintained that Mr. Tuttrup was an officer of the bank not only at the time of the conversation but also at the time the stock was purchased, Mr. Minahan retorted that he conceded that point. The defense's objection to the question was sustained for the reason that the conversation took place after the stock had been purchased which was in 1920 and 1921.

Mr. Carpenter declared that it was a question of impeaching the testimony of Mr. Powell who persistently testified that he never recommended the stock to anyone. He also declared that although the stock had been bought before March, 1922, notes to the bank for this stock had not been paid up, and that any recommendations made by the bank while the notes were unpaid were all a part of the same procedure of stock sale. The court refused to sustain the point.

CONTRACT WITH LAWYER
Much of the testimony of W. H. Fleweger, postmaster of Kimberly and a director of the Kimberly State bank, as far as it was brought out under cross-examination, dealt with the question of whether Mr. Fleweger had a personal interest in the case. He was asked if he had signed a contract with Mr. Carpenter relative to litigation. He admitted he had, but he objected to the use of the word contract. He said he had not agreed to pay Carpenter anything.

The question of attorney's contracts and fees aroused the Chicago attorney to protest against this form of cross-examination. The court ruled that the questions about the contracts

Assemblyman Raihle Points Out Danger to Republican Party in State

By Associated Press
Madison—The Republican party in Wisconsin is threatened with extinction by the so-called "third party" bill in the legislature. Assemblyman Paul H. Raihle of Cadott declared in a statement issued here. Assemblyman Raihle introduced the amendment to bill 479A, which he said "struck out its important features and as a result of which the bill was beaten on the motion for engrossment by two votes."

"A motion for reconsideration, however, will be made and the battle will have to be fought over," Mr. Raihle asserted. His statement follows: The defeat of bill 479A, in the assembly on Monday night on the motion for engrossment was the first step in an effort to defeat a movement which means the wiping out of existence of the Republican party in the state of Wisconsin—the state where the party was born. The bill has not been finally defeated as yet and the public should awake to its significance. It came from the adroit hand of Attorney General Ekern and were permissible as far as determining the credibility of the witness. Fleweger also testified that Powell had told him that Simon Cheese company stock "was all right" and the company was doing business with the Appleton bank. He testified that at one time Mr. Powell had urged him to stop Fleweger's son from talking against the reliability of the Simon Cheese company.

MOST POPULAR SENIOR TO GET SPECTOR TROPHY

The finest, all-around and most typical member of the college senior class this year will again be awarded the Spector trophy, established last year by Morris Spector, Appleton jeweler. The award is a cup which becomes the permanent possession of the winner.

Mr. Spector offered the cup, but left it to the decision of the school as to how it should be awarded. It was decided that the cup be awarded to the best all-around senior boy or girl by vote of the students and faculty. The trophy now is on display in the college library.

Last year, Lloyd Goan, Fennimore, was awarded the cup. He was a member of Maco, the "L" club, and Delta Iota fraternity.

Uncle Sam Wants To Know If There Is Radio Trust

Leaders in "Infant Industry" Called on Carpet for Examination

New York — The most dramatic story that has been unfolded in the modern business world will approach its climax in the New York office of the Federal Trade Commission on May 18.

On that day, Uncle Sam, represented by Trial Examiner William C. Reeves, will begin hearings to determine whether there is a monopoly in the radio industry.

Attorney E. L. Smith of the Trade Commission will present the charges that such a monopoly exists. The actors in this back-stage drama, which the hearings will bring to the front, have been financial giants, cabinet officials, diplomats, high army and navy officers, internationally famous inventors and battalions of research engineers, patent attorneys and corporation lawyers.

THE DEFENDANTS
The Federal Trade Commission brings its charges against eight corporations. Here is the list: The Radio Corporation of America, characterized as "the most important factor in the industry."

The General Electric Co., characterized as "the largest manufacturer of electrical apparatus, including devices used in radio communication, in the United States."

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., designated as "the second largest."

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The Western Electric Co., Inc., subsidiary of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and designated by the commission as "one of the largest manufacturers of electrical apparatus, including devices used in radio communication, in the United States."

The International Radio Telegraph Co., which the commission says is a subsidiary of the Westinghouse Co.

The United Fruit Co. The Wireless Specialty Apparatus Co., which the commission says is a subsidiary of the United Fruit Co.

ENTANGLEMENTS
Here is a brief summary of the relations between these eight companies as set forth by the Federal Trade Commission:

The Radio Corporation of America was organized by the General Electric Co.

It sells radio apparatus, 60 per cent of which is maintained by the General Electric Co., and 40 per cent by Westinghouse.

Its principal stockholders are General Electric, Westinghouse and the United Fruit Co. These companies are represented on its board of directors.

The radio Corporation, by a number of agreements, has the rights to the patents of the International Radio Telegraph Co., and the Wireless Specialty Apparatus Co.

LIMITED LICENSES
By an agreement originally negotiated between General Electric and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and subsequently extended to include Radio Corporation, Westinghouse, and Western Electric, each company is licensed to use the other companies' patents.

However, the terms of this agreement forbid the sale of radio receiving apparatus to the general public by the telephone company or Western Electric.

All of the eight corporations, in their answers filed with the commission, deny the charges of the Federal Trade Commission that these interactivities constitute monopoly.

DRIVERS COMPLAIN OF HIGHWAY 26 CONDITION
A bad piece of road on highway No. 26 near John Pingle's corner in Grand Chute is causing drivers considerable trouble, according to reports. The road is so soggy and rutted that many cars are stalled there every day. The highway at that point runs along the border of Outagamie and Winnebago counties and is under the supervision of the Winnebago-co highway commission. It is said. The Winnebago-co commission is planning to lay concrete on the road this year, according to reports, and therefore is unwilling to go to any expense for temporary repairs.

C. OF C. WILL ATTEND HEARING ON TRAINS
Appleton Chamber of Commerce will have representatives at the hearing at the courthouse at 11 o'clock Friday morning concerning the removal of trains 128 and 129 on the Ashland division of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. The railroad commission will have men here to hear any objections to this curtailment of passenger service.

The chamber is taking no stand but will guide its participation in the hearing largely by the attitude of the local people and those of nearby cities who use these trains. It is believed that the railroad should not operate trains where it is proven conclusively that there is no profit in so doing.

ANOTHER TAX BRAINSTORM

The administration, seriously concerned about the unfavorable public reaction to the tax bill, wishes to amend it in a number of ways to take off some of the curses heaped upon it, and which it has been forced to admit are merited. It has proposed that the occupational tax offset allowed the coal and dock interests be repealed, that the 6 per cent deduction of assessed value of property used in producing income, as a partial compensation for repeal of the personal property offset, be revised. Both of these amendments were killed by the legislature. Now it is proposed to abolish taxes on automobiles not exceeding $500 in value.

This last idea is suggestive of the discrimination and class appeal constantly resorted to by the administration to preserve its popularity. There is no sound reason why a person who possesses a $500 automobile should not pay a tax on it. If he can afford to put $500 into an automobile he can afford to pay a small tax that would normally be assessed upon it. Twenty or thirty years ago the man who owned a $100 horse and could take his family out riding on Sunday in a tan-fringed surrey was looked upon as one of the nabobs of the community. Only opulence could sport such a luxury.

Today an expenditure of double that sum for a means of locomotion or travel would be regarded as a joke among the humblest of the humble. It takes at least four or five hundred dollars for even the cheapest automobile that will satisfy those who must have a car, and one out of every seven persons in Wisconsin has responded to this feeling. If we figure five or even four persons to a family, considerably more than half the families of the state possess an automobile.

It is a mistake to contend that people who can put $500 into a car cannot afford to pay taxes on it and should receive special consideration. The mere numbers of such owners is in itself a refutation of such contention. They ought to pay in proportion as the man with the two, three or four thousand dollar car pays. When we begin to exempt from taxation persons who are able to pay taxes, even though small, we are entering on dangerous ground, for it is an application of class discrimination in government. It can have only injurious results. Everybody with property ought to pay toward the cost of government in proportion to their ability to pay, but all should pay something. If a man with a $500 automobile cannot pay taxes of a few dollars a year, he cannot afford to own the car.

KILLING WISCONSIN REPUBLICANISM

The bill which would empower a state central committee to change a party name is having rough sledding. It, of course, ought to be defeated for it is purely a move to use legislative power to further temporary political purposes. If the measure were adopted the Republican state central committee, it is said, would drop the name "Republican" in this state and substitute for it Progressive, or at least Progressive-Republican. It is a retaliatory move, said to have been originated by the Ekern wing of the La Follette faction to promote his candidacy and to make it easier to accomplish his election.

This scheme to outlaw the Republican party in Wisconsin is dishonest, for the simple reason that if we are to have a progressive party, known as such in Wisconsin, it is a new creation and is not in any sense a remade Republican party. There is no national progressive party, except in theory. The Republican party has an established right to the use of that name in the elections in this state, and could not justly be put in the position of having to reestablish this right in order to permit a group of politicians to further their personal ambitions.

If the members of the state central committee are not Republicans and want to have another party in this state, it is their privilege to resign and organize it. There are still enough Republicans in the state to preserve the established organization, and it would be a palpable injustice to them, as well as a serious breach of our national political system to legalize this conspiracy. It could only result in retaliation and the confusion of our election laws every time a change of sentiment places one or the other faction in control. It would result in no permanent good to anyone or to any party. The proposal is quite on a par with many of the fantastic and indefensible measures that have been brought before this legislature, and its freak predecessor.

THE CITY IN 1950

The English, like ourselves, are devoting some ingenious guesses as to what London and other cities will be in 1950, and how they ought to prepare in the way of building codes, streets control and similar matters of foresight and protection. As all modern cities are facing essentially similar problems these prophecies are worth considering.

Cities are being warned not to take too much stock in the changes which may be forced by the automobile. By 1950, they are told, the airplane will be a very different machine than it is today. It has developed from nothing in less than the time that separates us from that future date. By then, the helicopter will probably have been perfected, allowing planes to hover still in the air as a bird can, with the result that airplane mooring masts on buildings will be entirely feasible, and roofs instead of streets may be the parking space, with great landing towers for public garages.

The English are worried about the way European towns are rushing through American ideas, widening streets and the like; they are worried because they think these will not have time to be paid for when changes in our rapidly progressing world will have rendered the new way obsolete. We shall no sooner be turning our eyes in a self-satisfied way from our triple-deck streets and our country highways with six lanes of traffic, than we shall suddenly realize that traffic has taken to the air; the fight for street space will give way to the fight for sky space in which to land and take off; trains will have become simply a medium for carrying freight, only the short journeys will be made by automobile and all journeys of any length will be taken by air.

Fuel arrangements made now may be thrown out in a few years by hydro-electric developments distributing all heat and light and power from hooked-up stations, so that utility problems will be entirely simplified for everybody. "We may be able," says one writer, "to heat our buildings, cook our food, run our elevators, move our trains and motorcars all by wireless."

What, after all, do we know about the effect the airplane and the radio and giant power will have on the looks of the average city in twenty-five years? We should hardly go so far as the English paper, which urges conservatism in street improvements now because of what may happen ten or fifteen years from now. It might not, of course. The world has to meet today's problems as well as tomorrow's.

But anybody who thinks he has seen all that modern life holds in store for the city dweller and plans to shuffle off this mortal coil for sheer boredom had better take a new inventory of the future and wait a while.

You are not old, not as long as you enjoy living. Every day is the end of the world for some men who shut their eyes and take a drink & look.

THE NEED OF NURSES
Perhaps the best evidence of the need of nurses occurred in Buffalo recently when a nurses' organization hopped into the newspapers with a hot interview in which she deplored the lack of ethics on the part of the doctors, who, it appeared, had been discussing the need of nurses in their medical society.

The Erie County Medical society had a committee make a careful study of the nurse question. The personnel of the committee consisted exclusively, I think, of physicians who were on the staffs of the leading hospitals or teachers in a Class A medical college. They should have a pretty fair conception of the nurse question. Their report is therefore of great interest and importance.

As to what, if anything, is wrong with the present nurse problem, they reported (1) that there is more or less constant shortage of nurses which becomes acute in time of epidemic or seasonal illness; (2) there is an increasing unwillingness of nurses to accept calls to nurse in private homes; (3) the majority of people in moderate circumstances are unable to meet the expense involved in a 12 hour working day for nurses; (4) there is an increasing tendency, though still limited to a minority of nurses, for nurses to exercise the function of a physician.

As for the 12 hour day for nurses, anybody who can afford a nurse at all can afford to keep his nurse fit to work, and in my judgement that requires that the nurse be given a fair amount of rest and time off duty. Twelve hours is a long long day to work, if you have ever tried working.

As for the tendency of some nurses to act as little tin doctors, that, I think is a natural result of the kind of training nurses are generally compelled to undergo. The highbrow training schools try to teach nurses the functions of the physician. It is not surprising, then, that a certain number of the nurses think they know about as much as a doctor does, and besides there are plenty of commercial interests ready to pay them a comfortable wage for exercising the proper functions of a physician, and no end of public health organizations and schools that employ nurses who exercise the functions of doctors.

Among the remedies suggested by the committee were (1) we should reduce the preliminary requirements of applicants for nurse training to a grammar school education; at present most of the highbrow training schools require the applicant to be a graduate of a high school. (2) We should modify the curriculum in training schools to cover two years of practical bedside work, limiting the book stuff to the elements of anatomy, physiology, disease causation, modes of infection, practical asepsis, etc. This is something like! It is positively humorous the highfalutin book learnin' they cram into the heads of pupil nurses in the highbrow training schools.

The medical society committee would arrange a third year of instruction for such nurses as might elect the higher culture, and so on.

This is fine as far as it goes. But while we are at it, the real need of the people should be considered, and that, I think, is for nurses who are trained in a course of about one year.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Surveying in Peace.

Is there any practical preventive of ivy poisoning? I would like to do some surveying this summer, but I have suffered from ivy poisoning the last 10 consecutive years. Does one get poisoned by just breathing the air near it or do you have to come into actual contact with it? (C. J. E.)

Answer: The irritant principle is quite volatile and can probably carry through the air for a short distance to a susceptible individual. Many cases of poisoning occur from the smoke when burning ivy around a country place. Immunization has been obtained in many cases by the internal use of leaf gradually increasing for a period of a few weeks at the beginning of the season. ROLLO

Daily Fag

From Food Or Sleep

From Making Friends With Our Nerves. By Orison Swett Marden. We hear a lot of chatter about the falling off in effectiveness of workers in afternoon hours. They work all right in the morning, but begin to let up about 3. One reason for this is that many do not get sleep enough to carry them through eight or nine hours of intense work. Their "head of steam" falls off and they begin to slump about the middle of the afternoon, so that their last hours of work are quite inferior to their work in the morning hours.

If one's physical reserves are run out, if the nervous energy doesn't last through the day, it is because of one or two reasons: the body is de-vitalized, or there is something the matter with the nutrition. Lack of vitality is due to the presence of fatigue poisons. It may mean simply that the human machine is being kept at one kind of work too long. Changing off, if possible, to a different sort of work may, and often does, remedy it.

The proper use of the lunch hour has a great deal to do with preventing the afternoon slump. A brisk walk, or a complete change of interests, freshens up the whole afternoon. But the man who persistently talks over business problems during lunch gives his mental faculties and nerve cells no chance whatever to recuperate.

The food one eats at lunch has an important bearing upon the afternoon's efficiency. Some men so overload their stomachs with rich and heavy foods that the stomach has a two or three hours' job of it to pass the digested mass along the alimentary tract. Others eat the wrong kind of food, suffer from indigestion and then the slump occurs.

Recreation, exercise in the open air, is a wonderful balm for tired nerves and an exhausted mind. It is a wonderful recuperative force. That is why a brisk walk during the noon hour is good. Try breathing exercises. Five minutes away from your desk in the middle of the afternoon, taking deep breaths before an open window, will work wonders.

There is still another cause for the afternoon slump, which lies deeper. It is the fact that we are getting into the habit of letting down. Our minds become accustomed to the thought, and our nerve cells become correspondingly sluggish. In other words, we may be letting down from sheer laziness, when there is still a great reservoir of energy yet untapped.

Chinamen Dig Licorice Plant

From The Chinese Economic Bulletin
Licorice is a fabaceous plant growing in a wild state with pinnate leaves and spikes of blue flowers. The plant, especially its root, is valued in China as a medicine, being used as an emollient and also for internal application.

The chief licorice producing area in China is the Ordos territory, a steppe lying to the north of Shensi province, formerly belonging to Inner Mongolia. The licorice export business of this region is almost monopolized by the merchants of Pao-teh, a hsten district in northwestern Shensi.

Q. Why is salt used with ice to freeze ice cream? D. S. B.
A. The Bureau of Standards says that when salt is placed upon ice at a temperature not too far below freezing point, the ice and salt combine to form a salt solution of lower freezing point than the ice. The melting of the ice absorbs heat and thus lowers the temperature. When ice and salt are used to make ice cream the ice is melted.

Q. What is the best conductor of electricity? W. F.
A. Silver is considered the best conductor of electricity.

THE EASIEST THING HE DOES

Q. Where was the star shower of 1833 visible in this country? A. E. B.
A. The star shower of November 13, 1833 was the most remarkable one ever recorded. It was visible in America from the Great Lakes southward almost to the equator. One observer declared that "he never saw snowflakes thicker in a storm than were the stars in the sky at some moments."

Q. Please give a sketch of Judge Lindsey and his juvenile court. R. C.
A. Judge Benjamin Lindsey was born in Jackson, Tennessee, November 25, 1869, and has served as judge of the juvenile court of Denver, since January 7, 1901. Judge Lindsey was the originator of the honor system among juvenile offenders, placing boys sentenced to industrial schools upon their honor to report at the institution. Only five out of several hundred up to the present time have betrayed their trust. He has been most influential in promoting juvenile courts and also in having passed contributory delinquency laws which negligent parents, employers, etc. are held responsible for misdoings of juveniles. He is the author of many books on this subject.

Q. Some state forbid the shipment of gooseberries into their boundaries. Why were such laws passed? F. P. S.
A. Currants and gooseberries harbor white pine blister rust which kills all the fine needle pine trees. It is probably for this reason that some states forbid the shipment of gooseberries into their boundaries.

Q. How many broadcasting stations has England? W. E. P.
A. The Department of Commerce says that it has no complete list available in published form of the broadcasting stations of England. According to its latest list there are about 20 broadcasting stations on the British Isles.

Q. How much more does damp tobacco weigh than dry tobacco? J. L. N.
A. Damp tobacco will probably weigh from 10 to 20 per cent more than dry tobacco.

COUNTY OFFERS PAVING AID IF STATE PERMITS

Aldermen and Taxpayers Tell
Highway Committee
Amount Given It Too Small

Third and Fifth ward residents were assured by the county highway committee at a meeting at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon that it would do all it could to obtain state aid in the paving of Cherry and Richmond-sts. No definite proposal could be offered, however, due to uncertainty of the committee as to how the new state aid law for highways would operate.

O. C. Rollman of Green Bay, division engineer of the Wisconsin highway committee, will be invited here soon by the county group to explain the law as just changed by the legislature. It is understood that the new regulations go into effect July 1 and that state aid can be acted upon only at November sessions of county boards.

Three aldermen and six residents of the two affected wards appeared before the committee. The aldermen are George T. Richard, Third ward, Wenzel Hassman, Fifth ward, and Mike Steinhauser, First ward. They compromise a special committee appointed by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., to obtain more aid for the paving of Cherry and Richmond-sts. The other men were Attorney T. H. Ryan, Charles Lausman and Joseph Grassberger of the Third ward and J. J. Cieshinski, W. H. Vanderhyden and Joseph A. Weber of the Fifth ward.

Twenty thousand dollars in county aid already has been granted by Outagamie-co for a strip of the paving 12 feet wide. The council committee contended that this amount probably would not pay for that much paving for the entire length of Cherry and Richmond-sts and that aid of about $50,000 would not be too much. It was pointed out that highway aid of $15,000 was given for paving Lemnawah-st, a distance of about one-fourth mile, while only $20,000 was given for the present project, a distance of one and one-fourth miles. The appropriation did not seem consistent, it was said.

The committee was reminded that a proper roadway here was more important even than on Lemnawah-st because five state highways probably would be routed there. These highways are 15, 18, 47, 131 and 76. The aldermen agreed to let the matter rest until the new state law could be analyzed, however.

Meating, Outagamie-co superintendent of schools, and W. P. Hegman, principal of the Outagamie-co rural normal school at Kaukauna, will be among the speakers. No Formal Observance Of Arbor Day Here

No public observance of Arbor Day was held Wednesday in Appleton, although school children celebrated the day in the classrooms by telling stories and having programs. Arbor day was originated in 1872, Nebraska, then known as the "treeless state," set the first recorded tree planting when the board of agriculture adopted a resolution by J. Sterling Morton designating April 29 for that purpose.

In that year more than a million trees were planted and in 1885 the state legislature changed the date to April 22 in honor of Morton's birthday. Since that time many other states adopted the custom and during the war, the American Forestry association gave great impetus to tree-planting with its campaign for memorial tree planting, a custom which is now observed throughout the nation.

"Gimme Apple Pie" Is Heard Oftenest In Eating Houses

Ladies may like coconut cream pie and rich cakes, but when a man wants dessert he usually orders apple pie, plain or a la mode, according to lunch counter chauffeurs at a number of local restaurants. He may listen for five minutes to the kinds of pies the menu includes, he may ask the waitress to name the varieties a second time, but in the end he always chooses good old apple pie.

The restaurant kitchens produce more apple pies than any other kinds and at the end of the day they will all be eaten.

Fresh berry pies in season are quite popular, especially blueberry, raspberry and cherry. Cherry pies are second in popularity in all seasons, and during July, when the Sturgeon Bay cherries are on the market, the sale of cherry pies almost equals that of apple pies.

Pumpkin pie is another dessert that is quite popular with Appleton people and this is served by restaurants in all seasons. One restaurant has a customer who likes nothing better than a pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and when it is on the menu, the waitresses remind him of it so that he may have his favorite dessert.

Among the other favorite pies are banana, coconut cream, pineapple, butterscotch and custard. When a man wants a light lunch, he orders "a piece of pie and coffee."

An idea of how many pies are eaten may be gained from the statement of one proprietor who says he bakes an average of 40 pies a day. On July 4 this same restaurant used 100 pies, which demonstrates that whatever other fancy and tempting desserts may be offered, pie still is the favorite.

Woman Says She 'Begged' Stunt Money

Women of the Woodlawn Parent-Teacher's association revealed considerable ingenuity in picking up stray quarters at a meeting of the association Tuesday night, when each of them displayed 25 cents earned by their own hands outside of their regular activities. Readings by Miss McDermott, Miss Pearson, Miss Lucille Rohm, H. Kotz and Percy Blount were one of the main features of the evening.

It was decided that each family is to take dishes for its own use at future meetings. Miss Bramer, Mrs. H. Halve son and Percy Blount were appointed as the entertainment committee of the association. The membership committee consists of Robert Johnson, John Turkow and Mrs. F. Boal. Mrs. J. Turkow, Mrs. F. Mueller and Mrs. J. Boyce were named as the committee on food.

One woman who brought the 25 cents required for Tuesday's meeting said she had earned it by cutting nails. Another earned the extra money by cooking, several picked up nails which they sold others for. Some did the chores while their husbands worked in town, one stayed at home instead of going to a show in town, and one admitted that she turned beggar to get the money.

The next meeting of the Woodlawn association will be held on May 19.

Hurt When Auto And Car Collide

Andrew Slack suffered slight injuries to his head and leg when a Ford touring car he was driving collided headon with the 11:15 south-bound interurban at S. Onelda and Calumet-sts Wednesday morning. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital for treatment.

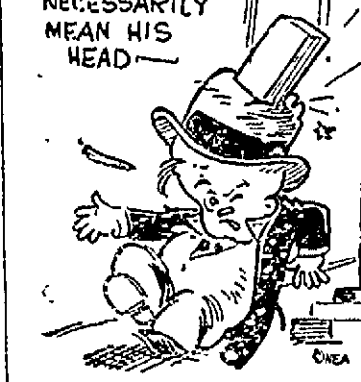

Slack's automobile became mired in mud on S. Onelda-st just beyond Calumet and a grocery truck was used to release his car. The man's wife and daughter had alighted and were standing on the road while this was going on.

When Slack started up his machine to drive onto Calumet-st he appeared to become confused and drove onto the street car tracks and ran into the interurban. The motorist attempted to stop but was too late to avoid a collision.

Best Spring Tonic For Old Folks Is Cod Liver Oil

Great Body Builder. Full of Vitamins

Nowadays old folks are increasing their strength, vitality and endurance by the use of Cod Liver Oil, which according to medical men is full of vitamins and is the greatest body builder in the world.

Of course they don't take the nasty tasting, evil smelling, stomach upsetting oil itself. Few sensible people do that in these enlightened days, when McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated and easy to take—are sold in every drug store in the land—60 tablets for 60 cents.

Old people who want to keep young and vigorous as long as they can will find that these Tablets are just what they need to keep in first class condition.

Scientists tell us that "Cod Liver Oil is useful during every stage and age of life" but at no time is its wonderful building power more clearly demonstrated than in old age.

Why not get 60 tablets today and increase your already decreasing energy and strength. Take them for 30 days and note the pleasure you get from feeling younger again.

There is no question but what they will help you and of that you are the judge—if they don't help—your money will be returned by the druggist from whom you bought them—for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are rigidly guaranteed. Be sure, however, to get McCoy's—the original and genuine. Ask Schlitz Bros. Co., Downer's Drug Store about them.

SCOUT COUNCIL GIVES CAMPSITE FURTHER STUDY

Large Committee Appointed to Investigate Sites—Make Big Plans for Rally

Further investigation of campsites with a view to possible purchase was voted by the executive committee of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, at the monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the headquarters here. A special committee was appointed for this purpose. Applications of several tracts for registration were received and plans were made for two rallies.

The committee which has the campsites in hand is to give further study to the proposals of Judge Edgar V. Warner, who offers a tract on Shawano lake, and to others which have been submitted by P. O. Keicher, valley executive. Representatives from each city will serve on the committee. They are: Kaukauna, F. M. Charlesworth, William F. Ashe; Appleton, John R. Riedl, C. Willard Cross; Menasha, Emil Schultz, Father Weix, Albert Jung; Neenah, the Rev. R. A. Heron, Dr. J. M. Donovan; Kimberly, M. H. Kettenhofen and one other whom he may select.

Troop 2, First Methodist church, and troop 8, First Congregational church, Appleton, both applied for registration and the requests were approved. Dr. G. W. Carlson is scoutmaster of troop 2 and Donald and Douglas Hyde are assistants. C. Willard Cross is the troop 8 scoutmaster and Harry B. Leith and William Meyer, assistants. Other applications approved were those of Earl Gonion as assistant scoutmaster of troop 9, Menasha, and of Raymond Miller, recreational director of the city of Menasha, as deputy scout commissioner.

Rally dates of May 23 at Menasha and June 6 at Appleton were approved by the committee. The Menasha date happens to be the same as that of a citywide bargain festival planned by the merchants. Prizes of $50 will be given by Menasha district committee and the merchants intend to give additional awards. An athletic meet will take place at the same time with events at Menasha park. The scouts of the entire valley will march in the parade which the merchants will stage, with a band at the head.

Part of the scout events will be held in a roped-off section in Menasha business section if possible, and the remainder at the park. All competing teams are to be offered prizes.

P. O. Keicher, scout executive, was authorized by the committee to arrange his vacation so it will coincide with an appointment he expects to obtain for duty at the citizens military training camp at Camp Custer this summer.

Council Adopts Rule to Place
Executive in Closer Touch
With Activities

The mayor is given direct supervision over all city hall officers, officers and employers and he is made a member of every council committee in amendments to council rules adopted at the organization meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. It is believed that this will keep the mayor in closer touch with city hall activities.

Six other changes and additions were adopted on motion of Alderman Thompson, as follows:

No motion to reconsider shall be made except by a member who voted on the prevailing side, and such motion to reconsider shall be made at the same or the next succeeding regular meeting of the common council.

The finance committee shall consist of two members and in addition thereto the chairman of the committees on streets and bridges, fire and water, poor, and street lighting.

All purchases of supplies for the city hall shall first be approved by the mayor.

All city officials shall be present at all regular council meetings.

All city officers shall be limited to attendance at one convention each year.

Quotations from Section 62 of the statutes of Wisconsin shall be printed in the back of the book, and also the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all city officers, boards and commissions.

Quota For Training Camp Nearly Filled

Madison—With the civilian military training camp still three months off, Wisconsin's quota of 1258 members is approximately 60 per cent complete, according to Lieutenant Colonel Moffet of the Reserve Officers' Training corps. Applications are being sent in to the C. M. T. C. headquarters at Milwaukee daily from counties throughout the state.

The training camp, which is held annually at Camp Custer, Battle Creek Mich., for young men between the ages of 17 and 24, is but one of a number of such camps held throughout the United States during the month of August. Men from Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, comprising the Sixth corps area, will attend. Figures compiled at the national headquarters show the Sixth area to be second in the number of applicants that have been sent in compared with the quota.

Twin City Bridge Aid Now Unfair, State Informed

Winnebago-co Should Open
Up Highway 15 to Bridge,
Says City Resolution

Both the city of Appleton and the chamber of commerce have filed formal protest with the Wisconsin highway commission against granting state aid to the cities of Neenah and Menasha for construction of new bridges unless Winnebago-co will open up a road leading from W. Foster-st to Cherry-st bridge.

This action was taken by the chamber of commerce when a resolution was adopted at a special meeting of the board of directors last week. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the common council here and a vote was taken by the city to file a like protest. A committee consisting of Aldermen Mark Catlin, Philby Earl and C. F. Smith was appointed to draw up the resolution. Both documents are being forwarded to the state highway commission at Madison.

EFFORTS NULLIFIED

It is felt by Appleton residents that Winnebago-co should consider the accessibility of the entire highway 15 instead of working only for advantage to that portion within the Twin Cities. by the taxpayers here. It is said. Considerable expense was shouldered to meet the wishes of the highway commission for a bridge that would enable motorists to avoid the dangerous "ditch." The work loses its object in part by the attitude of Winnebago-co toward the opening of the route.

The resolution which is being sent to the highway commission reads: Whereas, the cities of Neenah and Menasha have petitioned the Wisconsin highway commission for state aid for bridges over the Fox river on state highway 15 at Neenah and Menasha, and

ONLY 500 FEET

Whereas, at present state aid would be largely of local benefit, for the reason that the county board of Winnebago-co failed to approve opening a road for highway 15 from Foster-st, Winnebago-co, to the Outagamie-co line (a distance of only 500 feet) to connect with Cherry-st and the Cherry-st bridge built by the taxpayers of Appleton, across the Fox river at a cost $210,000, and over which highway 15 can run with greater safety to the traveling public than the present route which crosses the Chicago and Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad tracks, and the Wisconsin, Traction, Light, Heat and Power company's interurban tracks at several places on the flats which is and always has been the most dangerous section of state highway 15.

Therefore, be it resolved: That Appleton Chamber of Commerce cooperate with the city administration, and do hereby protest to the Wisconsin highway commission against state aid being given to the cities of Neenah and Menasha for new bridges to be built over the Fox river on highway 15 until such time as the road is opened from Foster-st, Winnebago-co, to Cherry-st, Outagamie-co.

Kaukauna—The high school is represented by four speakers in the league declamatory and oratorical contest Thursday afternoon and evening at Clintonville. Other schools in the district are New London, Clintonville and Neenah. The oratorical contest was held in the afternoon and the Orange and Black was represented by Joseph Bayoregon and John Parent. Bayoregon's oration is entitled "The Sacrifice That Failed," and Parent's subject is "Fires of Change."

In the declamatory contest Thursday evening, Miss Edna Sacer will give a declamation entitled "A Pair of Shoes" and Miss Amanda Hald will speak on "Sun-Dried."

Kaukauna high school also is making preparations to enter the extemporaneous speaking contest to be held in Oshkosh on May 8. The Oshkosh contest is for schools of the district but as Kaukauna will have no opposition in the league or sub-district, its speakers will be the Oshkosh competitors. The speakers are Carl Grimm and Ross Darling.

Two of the four who are now engaged in oratory and extemporaneous speaking will enter the Lawrence college contests to be held May 21.

Warn Mail Patrons
To Fix Approaches

Kaukauna—Postmaster A. R. Mill has completed his semi-annual inspection of the Kaukauna rural routes. He reported conditions on all routes were fairly good although a number of farmers still have their mail boxes stationed on the left side of the road. They are being notified to make a change.

In his report Mr. Mill stated many farmers are careless about keeping the approaches to their boxes in good condition. In soft weather the vehicle of the mail man cuts a rut in the road and often the cars tip against the boxes. In those cases the farmers were asked to fill in the ruts with crushed stone or cinders and otherwise keep the roads in good condition.

There are some roads on the north side routes which will have to be repaired in the near future to insure mail delivery service, the postmaster stated.

New London—Charles Zeige, for the past 55 years a member of the teaching profession, and for the past 25 years, the principal of the Emanuel Lutheran parochial school of this city, resigned his position in this city last Sunday.

His resignation will take effect in June, at the end of the school year, after which, he will leave, with Mrs. Zeige, who is in poor health, for Minneapolis.

His plans for the future are not definitely decided upon, although he may again take up teaching.

The Emanuel Lutheran school has grown steadily, since Mr. Zeige came to it 25 years ago, and now enrolls 135 pupils in its eight grades. Only one assistant was teaching in the school when Mr. Zeige came here. The school now has two assistants, the Misses Pauline Hafner and Grace Vrndt. Both will return next year.

Although Mr. Zeige is 75 years of age, he is in good health. He graduated 55 years ago from the River Forest Normal school at Addison, Ill. From there, he went to New Orleans, where he taught for ten years, going from there to St. Paul, where he taught for 21 years, before coming to New London. Mr. Zeige's successor has not as yet been appointed.

New London—Another baseball meeting, in preparation for completing the Waupaca County League, was held in Manawa Monday night, New London, Manawa, and Clintonville being represented.

The chief item of business was the awarding of a place in the league to Hortonville. Bear Creek is also anxious to join, and may be given a place in case Waupaca or Iowa fill to respond.

The league will use three umpires, none of whom may reside in his home town. The season will probably be opened on May 10.

Strict rules are being completed for the governing of the new league. Team will post a $100 bond to insure fulfillment of its schedule. The one man on each team who may draw a salary cannot receive more than $10 day for his services. No club may take in members outside of a radius of 5 miles from its home town, except in cases of emergency.

Canning Company
Builds AdditionFilling of Ground Started for Hamilton's Three-story
Cucumber Pickle Plant

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Hamilton Canning Co. of this city has begun the filling in of two acres of ground, west of its present plant, in preparation to starting work on its new addition.

A temporary spur has been laid to the site by the Green Bay and Western railway, in order that cinders may be hauled for the filling.

The new building, which will be used as a cucumber pickling plant, will be 50x150 feet in size, and three stories high. It will contain 40 large tanks for pickles, each tank to be 8 feet deep and 14 feet in diameter. The building is being constructed by the Thomas Construction Co. of this city.

A large 8,000-gallon water tank has been installed adjoining the factory, in order to supply a large enough amount of water when the new plant is completed, which will probably be in early part of August.

The new canning department installed last year, is expected to put out 25,000 cans of beans this season.

Install School
Banking System

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Lincoln school of this city will introduce the school banking system for its pupils next year.

The banking system will be carried on through the local banks, which have engaged the services of the Thrift, Inc. of Evanston, Ill., which specializes in such work, and will send representatives here to instruct the local teachers in the system. The system will be in use from the kindergarten to the senior year in the high school. Each student depositor will be given the choice of the bank he wishes to deal with, and will get a regular passbook from that bank. Deposits may be made in the schools, but withdrawals can be made only at the bank itself.

Regular banking classes will be made a part of the school curriculum, and will prove to be very practical. The object of the new plan is to establish a knowledge of banking and desire for thrift among the students.

“CONFESSIONS OF A QUEEN”
SET MOSTLY IN ROYAL
PALACE ROOMS

There is only one out-of-doors shot in “Confessions of a Queen,” the Victor Seastrom production which is showing at the Elito today and tomorrow. The picture, which tells the story of a Princess who becomes a Queen, and of her life as ruler of a country in central Europe, is mostly built around mammoth sets of pomp and grandeur. For the most part drawing rooms, court rooms and boudoirs are shown, and the one exception is the exterior of the palace, showing the lake with the royal boat upon which the beautiful princess comes to meet her king and marry him.

“Confessions of a Queen” was adapted to the screen by Victor Seastrom and Agnes Christine Johnston from “Kings in Exile,” the famous Alphonse Daudet story.

Alice Terry, Lewis Stone, John Bowers, Helen d'Algy and Joseph Dowling head the cast for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company.

This is Seastrom's third American-made production—his third in fact for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The two preceding ones were “Name the Man” and “He Who Gets Slapped.”

MANY HIGHLIGHTS
IN MOTION PICTURE
“The Beloved Brute,” which will be shown at The New Bijou theatre today-Friday-Saturday, is an adaptation of Kenneth Perkins' widely read novel of the same name, with Marguerite de la Motte and Victor-McLeglen in the leading roles. Others in the cast are William Russell, Mary Alden, Stuart Holmes, Frank Brownlee, Wilfred.

“The Beloved Brute” is described as a stirring picture set in a western locale—Arizona—but covering too broad a field of human appeal to limit it to classification under a single category. Threading its way through the story is an alluring romance, but thrills, suspense and comedy play their full part in making it a moving spectacle.

The highlights are two blood-curdling combats, in which Victor McLeglen demonstrates his prowess as a virile actor. In one of these he gives a startling effective exhibition in “cleaning out” a frontier cafe in order to save a girl. In the other, he and William Russell stage what is declared to be the most realistic fight ever seen upon the screen.

built around mammoth sets of pomp and grandeur. For the most part drawing rooms, court rooms and boudoirs are shown, and the one exception is the exterior of the palace, showing the lake with the royal boat upon which the beautiful princess comes to meet her king and marry him.

“Confessions of a Queen” was adapted to the screen by Victor Seastrom and Agnes Christine Johnston from “Kings in Exile,” the famous Alphonse Daudet story.

Alice Terry, Lewis Stone, John Bowers, Helen d'Algy and Joseph Dowling head the cast for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company.

This is Seastrom's third American-made production—his third in fact for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The two preceding ones were “Name the Man” and “He Who Gets Slapped.”

MANY HIGHLIGHTS
IN MOTION PICTURE
“The Beloved Brute,” which will be shown at The New Bijou theatre today-Friday-Saturday, is an adaptation of Kenneth Perkins' widely read novel of the same name, with Marguerite de la Motte and Victor-McLeglen in the leading roles. Others in the cast are William Russell, Mary Alden, Stuart Holmes, Frank Brownlee, Wilfred.

“The Beloved Brute” is described as a stirring picture set in a western locale—Arizona—but covering too broad a field of human appeal to limit it to classification under a single category. Threading its way through the story is an alluring romance, but thrills, suspense and comedy play their full part in making it a moving spectacle.

The highlights are two blood-curdling combats, in which Victor McLeglen demonstrates his prowess as a virile actor. In one of these he gives a startling effective exhibition in “cleaning out” a frontier cafe in order to save a girl. In the other, he and William Russell stage what is declared to be the most realistic fight ever seen upon the screen.

Americans Should Know More About People Of Hawaii

Kiwanians Hear New London Minister Give Address on Pacific Islands

A colorful description of life on the Hawaiian Islands was given to Appleton Kiwanians Wednesday noon at the regular luncheon meeting in Hotel Northern by the Rev. J. Richard Olson, pastor of Holy Trinity English Lutheran church at New London and formerly senior lieutenant and chaplain of the Pacific fleet.

The Rev. Mr. Olson has spent considerable time in the islands and has studied the life there. In his talk Wednesday noon he touched upon the significance of the strategic position of the islands in relationship to United States and the far east.

"Because American citizens were the first to reach the savage people of those islands with the torchlight of Christian civilization," said the Rev. Mr. Olson, "and because our flag has meant so much to that benighted race, every American ought to have rudimentary knowledge of life and conditions there."

The speaker traced the development of the islands since discovery in 1785 to the present day, saying the first American citizens to reach Hawaii were Christian missionaries sent out by the American Missionary board in New York in 1820. This band, comprised of three men and two women, went to the islands only a few years before the natives had killed Capt. Cook of England, an explorer.

These missionaries, said the Rev. Mr. Olson, not only taught Christianity and higher principles of living, but established public schools and encouraged industries, which have grown into tremendous proportions, the chief one being the sugar industry.

The natives have an alphabet of 12 letters, he said, which has been worked out since the arrival of the first missionaries.

While in Appleton the Rev. Mr. Olson was the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Schreckenborg.

Twenty-nine of the forty-two arrests made by the police department during March were in for disregarding arterial highway signs, and nine of the remaining arrests were for other traffic law violations, according to the monthly report of Chief George W. Pridmore to the police and fire commission. Rape and attempted rape each resulted in one arrest, and two arrests were for assault and battery.

The city ambulance traveled seven miles in responding to two calls during March, according to the report while the city touring car responded to 122 calls and traveled 413 miles.

Elk Bridge Experts Meet Oshkosh Sharks

At least ten teams of Appleton Elks will drive to Oshkosh Thursday evening to meet as many Sawdust city Elks in a bridge tournament. The Appleton club had planned to visit Oshkosh ten days ago but the tournament was postponed when it developed that the Oshkosh Elks were holding an important meeting on the same night.

Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, spent the early part of the week visiting schools in the northern part of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wolter and daughter Mable, who spent the winter at Orlando, Fla., are on their way home, according to letters to friends in Appleton.

SCHWEBS, HURT 2 MONTHS AGO, SLOWLY RECOVERING

Nye Schwebs, Hortonville youth who was injured seriously in an automobile accident during the latter part of February, when Jerome Steffen was fatally hurt, is convalescing rapidly at St. Elizabeth hospital, according to reports of his physician. Schwebs lost an eye as the result of the accident. Severe bruises he received have healed, but his right arm, which was broken, still is in need of attention.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe case where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above every instance.

Men Marry Home Girls Says Cynthia

The question that seems to worry most husband hunters is this one. Which kind of woman does a man want—the home or the supervamp? The Jenny Wren or the Bird of Paradise?

Of course, it depends a great deal on the type of husband the girl happens to be looking for. But the most popular young "petter" in town isn't always the one who picks the prize husband. Sometimes she gets no husband at all, in fact.

Such a girl is Booth Tarkington's "Alice Adams." Alice was enormously popular in her teens. By the time she was ready to marry, no one wanted to marry her. All the men who had "petted" her had lost all their interest in her, as men do. They kiss and—ride away! The one kiss they keep on wanting is the one they never get!

I should advise "Daisy G" to read Booth Tarkington's book. Here's the letter she wrote to me:

Dear Miss Grey: I am 23 years old, and I can have a different beau every night in the week. In fact, I do. But none of them seems to be wildly anxious to give me an engagement ring. They all want the petting privileges of the engaged without making me an offer of marriage. Is there something wrong with me? Do you think I'm too easy to kiss, perhaps?—Daisy G.

QUESTIONS-ANSWERS

Dear Miss Grey: My husband has a very pretty girl working in his office. Whether he's interested in her or not I don't know. But he certainly does not seem to care for me any more. Shall I ask him to discharge her?—Jealous Wife.

No. Perhaps the cause of your husband's coldness is not this girl who works for him, but you, yourself. Are you sure that you make the same effort to please him that you did when you were his sweetheart? Too many women blame another woman for robbing them of their husband, when the truth of the matter is that they, themselves, let their men slip through their fingers.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it proper to take off one's hat in a restaurant at luncheon time?—Mrs. C.

No. Not then, or any other time when you are in a public dining room. Although if you start out in the evening, it is permissible to go with your head uncovered.

SPORT DRESS

This dashing sport dress is made of bordered flannel in black and white with a convertible scarf and enormous pockets. The borders are arranged in the back and front so as to give the long lines that are so flattering to all figures except the very thin. The wide sleeves are very attractive.

FASHION HINTS

MONKEY FUR USED

Monkey fur is used extensively this season as fringe. Frequently it is used in small sections irregularly applied instead of in a straight border.

NEW VELVET HATS

The new very soft velvet hats show a tendency to roll in the back and pull down in the front, and the crown is dented and crushed.

ORCHID AND ROSES

An attractive hat of orchid georgette to crepe is trimmed with roses in shades of pink and rose and has rose petals on the end of the scarf which is wrapped once around the throat and falls over the left shoulder.

DECORATIVE SKIRTS

Large squares of colored material are appliqued on "white" skirts or blouses and the whole accented with ed. This gives a highly decorative effect.

arrived and Mister Woodchuck was looking it over.

"Huh," he cried. "It doesn't look a bit different from any other lawn mower."

"Well, what did you expect?" asked Mrs. Woodchuck. "Did you think that it would be set with diamonds?"

For answer her husband just gave it a push across the grass and he kept right on pushing.

At the end of the second row he stopped and wiped the perspiration off his face with his handkerchief.

"Doesn't look very magic to me," sniffed Mrs. Woodchuck.

"Will you be quiet!" cried Mister Woodchuck. "I expected this. All magic lawn mowers work a bit stiffly at first. I'll have to keep at it and after while it will go with scarcely a touch."

That day Mister Woodchuck cut six rows, the next day ten and the next day twenty. At the end of the week he cut the whole lawn without stopping.

"I knew it!" he called to his wife when she called him in to supper.

"That lawn mower works like a charm. I scarcely touch it now. Magic it certainly is. Best investment I ever made."

Mrs. Woodchuck sighed. "I wish I had one of those new-fangled washing machines," she said.

"Nothing like a good pair of arms," said her husband.

Suddenly, there stood Mister Peg Leg and the Twins.

"You're right, Mister Woodchuck," said the fairman. "A week ago your arms were all fat and no muscle. Now they are all muscle and no fat. That isn't a magic lawn mower at all. It's just a plain every-day one. You are stronger and that's why it works so easily. And as that only cost one-fifth as much as a magic one, I throw in a washing machine for the extra money you paid me. His outside."

"There's nothing like a good pair of arms," began Mister Woodchuck. Then he stopped. "Ha, ha, ha," he cried. "That's a good one on me."

To Be Continued.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Breakfast—Halves of grapefruit, codfish puffs with egg sauce, corn bread, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked cheese, bran bread, spring onions, cottage pudding with maple sauce, milk, tea.

Dinner—Casseroles of smoked halibut, string beans, head lettuce with pudding, rye bread, milk, coffee.

A breakfast of stewed fruit, cereal and crisp toast is preferable for children under school age. There is no breakfast better suited to the needs of young children. The cereal should be varied frequently to avoid monotony and also take advantage of the different nutrients in the various grains.

You will like the egg sauce with the codfish puffs. The sauce adds just the right moisture to an otherwise rather dry dish.

BAKED CHEESE

Three-fourth pound cheese, 2 cups stale bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, salt and paprika.

Sprinkle a well-buttered baking dish with a layer of crumbs. Dot with bits of butter and cover with one-third of the cheese and one-third of the crumbs. Continue layer for layer of seasoned crumbs and cheese, making three layers. Sprinkle top with crumbs and dot with butter. Beat eggs slightly with milk, season with salt and paprika and pour over cheese and crumbs in baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

COTTAGE PUDDING

One-fourth cup butter, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup milk or water, 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, few grains salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

The water will make a tenderer, softer cake than the milk.

Cream butter and slowly add sugar. When smooth and creamy beat in 2 tablespoons flour. Mix and sift remaining flour, salt and baking powder. Add egg well beaten to first mixture. Beat well and add dry ingredients alternately with milk, beating mixture smooth after the addition of an ingredient. Add vanilla and half-fat oil and flour muffin pans with batter. Bake 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Serve with maple sauce.

MAPLE SAUCE

One cup maple sirup, whites 2 eggs.

Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry. In the meantime cook sirup until a few drops tried in cold water form a soft ball. Pour sirup in a thin stream on eggs, beating constantly.

The pudding can be made of the yolks of the two eggs used for the meringue if a salad dressing is not needed. If two yolks are used in place of one whole egg water should be used in place of milk in the recipe. Otherwise there are no changes in the rule.

LETTER FROM JOHN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

Bully for you my dear! I didn't think you had so much stamina. The only thing I have against you in the matter, is that you were afraid.

I told Ruth last night at dinner that if you girls had told me I would have managed some way to set you up. I'm as proud as punch of you, especially as Walter Burke cannot crow over me at all about having such a clever wife.

Ruth tells me that you did all the financing of the establishment and that you never went to New York without doing a great deal of the buying. Walter and I both agreed that if you girls wanted to keep the shop that was up to you.

Of course I think that you will not have very much time for the next year or so to devote to anything of the kind, especially as you will be in Pittsburgh. However, the whole deal is yours and Ruth's, and Walter and I have agreed to keep our hands off.

When I got to the hotel from Ruth's I found a note in my box saying to call up mother at any time at night that I returned. I did so and Miss Anderson came to the phone.

She said that mother was, having the worst case of hysterics that she had ever had. She told me that damnable Bradford woman had been around again and that she had told her that you owned half the shop and put mother up to writing you the nasty letter which you referred to in your letter to me.

Now don't worry about this at all, dear. I will fix mother. I will explain to her that unless she promises me never to see Friedelia Bradford again I will not pay anything toward her support. Of course you know she has enough to live on very simply and carefully without anything I may give her, but she has had everything she wanted since she came to us and I know she won't give that up for anyone.

This also settles the matter about her living with us. She must either go back to her old home or she can board at any sanitarium or hotel she wishes or she can travel. I think it would be very nice to send her and Miss Anderson abroad. Don't you? Mother might get some new ideas and stop thinking of herself for a minute.

The Sydney Carton arrived today. I told him about the shop the minute I saw him and if you could have heard the splendid things he said about you and your loyalty to your friends and to me you would have been as happy as I was. I must confess, Leslie, that right at first I was a little peeved but Syd showed me that it would have been impossible for you to have done any differently from what you did and as he spoke I grew a little ashamed of myself for misunderstanding the motives of not only the sweetest, but the cleverest wife in all the world.

Goodnight, dearest.

JACK.

Time for more sugar

The active growing bodies of little folks need sugar to replace the energy they burn up so quickly in play.

Scientists now agree that it is far better to let children have the right kind of candy regularly.

Then they are less inclined to over-eat.

You can find no more ideal candy for children than Life Savers—the mints with the hole.

Youngsters like these china-hard circles of pure goodness. They eat them slowly because they are hard.

Six flavors displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself.

New Kind Of Wife Don't Earn Salary

We hear a great deal today about wives having a salary. Every now and then some actress or feminist who never did a day's housework in her life, rises to remark that any wife who doesn't demand wages, is nothing more or less than a high-class moron.

And no doubt that is the way they feel about it.

But what about us other women... the plain garden variety of wife who enjoys getting up in the morning and keeping the moths out of the clothes closets?

Do we really want a salary? I believe that not one woman in a hundred would take one from her husband if he offered it to her.

For one thing, the average wife has her husband's salary to handle. She pays the bills, and takes what she can afford for her luncheons downtown or her matinees. Sometimes she has an allowance.

And then there's another side to the question. How many women really earn a salary?

For instance there is the "flapper wife"... the woman who won't do housework, doesn't know how to do it and intends never to do so long as there is a delicatessen or Martha-by-the-day in this broad land.

Why should she have a salary? Her days are vacations of idleness.

She wakes up in the morning and says to the world in general, and to her husband in particular, "Well, here I am! Support me!"

She lies in bed until she "is good and ready" to get up.

Then she dresses herself as all the flapper wives who stroll the boulevards are dressed... as to let the eye... and meanders forth to a day of shopping or matinees. She seldom soils her hands with any kind of work.

This type of woman is new in America.

She is a product of this age of ours. She lives for pleasure and leisure. She has them.

And I know of no good reason why she should be paid for having a good time.

Health Hints

HEART WEAKNESS

There is not a single sensation associated with real heart disease which may not be caused by other disorders. Mr. Mann of Anytown learned.

It is because of this that many persons give much useless worry to symptoms which the heart has absolutely nothing to do with.

Regardless of this, however, any painful sensation, that seems to have ideas and stop thinking of herself for a minute.

The Sydney Carton arrived today. I told him about the shop the minute I saw him and if you could have heard the splendid things he said about you and your loyalty to your friends and to me you would have been as happy as I was. I must confess, Leslie, that right at first I was a little peeved but Syd showed me that it would have been impossible for you to have done any differently from what you did and as he spoke I grew a little ashamed of myself for misunderstanding the motives of not only the sweetest, but the cleverest wife in all the world.

Goodnight, dearest.

JACK.

Who!

Time for more sugar

The active growing bodies of little folks need sugar to replace the energy they burn up so quickly in play.

Scientists now agree that it is far better to let children have the right kind of candy regularly.

Then they are less inclined to over-eat.

You can find no more ideal candy for children than Life Savers—the mints with the hole.

Youngsters like these china-hard circles of pure goodness. They eat them slowly because they are hard.

Six flavors displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself.

Peppermint, Wintergreen, Cinnamon, Licorice, Citrus, and Vanilla.

SMART VEST POPULAR

Here is what many a smart maid prefers to wear in place of a blouse under her spring tulle—a vest of pique or satin, with large buttons and a pocket or so for a watchfob, and one of the very tiny kerchiefs that are so nifty and feminine. It is apt to be much neater than a blouse which does not give such a smooth, unwrinkled foundation.

its origin in the heart, should not be ignored.

Often if the heart is slightly affected, the disorder may be removed, or if not removed, the patient may shape his mode of living to enable him to live to a fairly ripe old age, despite the disorder.

Symptoms of heart disease have two distinct sources, those which develop in the heart because of its in trinsic damage, and those which develop in other parts of the body to maintain an adequate circulation.

If the heart does not give enough blood to the brain there is dizziness. When the lungs are affected, there is shortness of breath and coughing. When it is the stomach or intestine. When it is the legs, the ankles swell.

This list could be lengthened to include all organs of the body, but enough has been said to indicate why a great variety of symptoms may develop as a result of heart weakness.

SPRING STYLES SHOW RUFFLES FRILLS AND ALL

Chicago—The eternal feminine has asserted herself!

Slowly emerging from a period of boyish bobs, masculine silhouetted busts and all the rest, woman—Love-ly Woman—is soon to blossom forth in all her pristine femininity, frills and ruffles and all. But with this difference, mark you, she'll be prettier than ever!

Thus will Madam Alla Ripley, modiste presiding over the spring fashion show and the convention of the Fashion Art League of America at Chicago March 15 to 19, describe what she terms the "style reaction" which close students of fashion have been anxiously watching for more than a year.

Madam Ripley, in addition to being one of the leading modistes of America, is president of the Fashion Art League, comprising 2500 American modistes devoted to the development of distinctly American art in the fashioning of dress.

"Styles do not follow cycles," says Madam Ripley. "They follow spirals and never quite touch the same spot twice. The present era of mannish styles was wholly without the precedent and is directly attributable to the outburst from the restraint and discipline of war time.

"Styles reflect truly the state of the public mind. During a radical period of unrest, widespread law violation and freedom from conventions, our styles have reflected the prevailing spirit. Women have taken more liberties in dress in the past six years than they did in the preceding two hundred years.

WAVE OF REACTION

"And now a wave of reaction has set in all over the world. Conserva-tives are in power not only in America but in England, Italy and Spain. We are deciding that the good old ways were safer and more sensible after all.

"The trend of fashion follows the trend of the public mind. Style reaction has already set in. Long sleeves are the mode. For the first time in years the long 'skirt' was worn last summer. It went out and the extreme short skirt is now the thing. But you will notice that the very short skirts are full without the tendency to crawl about the knees that the old tight short skirt had. Before the end of the year the fashion will swing back again to the long skirt which will be very full.

"Women learned a great lesson by the style revolt which they have undergone. They have learned the inherent grace of unrestrained movement. Not again will a style remain for long which blinds her movements. The free swinging stride of unhampered woman is here to stay. A reversion to the graceful flowing lines of the early Greeks is on the way."

NEGRO MAMMY CROONS FOLK SONGS, FOR COMPOSER

An old negro "mammy" is the unseen and unsung source of musical art with which a New Orleans singer is recalling the world. She is "Mammy Virginia," a servant for 45 years in the home of L. W. Gery, New Orleans, father of Mrs. Edna Thomas, who has toured the world singing negro folk songs and spirituals. "Mammy" croons the old melodies for Mrs. Thomas, who composes the verse and composes music that faithfully retains the old tunes.

More pages of the world's history are believed to have been exposed by the excavations (shown above) made near the great Pyramid of Ghizeh in Egypt by the Harvard-Boston Archaeological Expedition. They have uncovered what is believed by many to be the tomb of King Seneferu, who reigned about 1500 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Christensen of Ft. Washington, N. L., found themselves with a nice-sized family all at once when these triplets were born. And husky youngsters they have turned out to be, as is clearly shown by this photo of the 20-month old kiddies. Left to right they are Pauline, Julia and Kristina.

The beauty of this lovely Austrian girl has an American accent. So decided the Viennese artists and sculptors who awarded a beauty prize to Miss Elsie Fuller. Could she pass for a home-town girl? We'll leave it to you.

Temperance Literature, to be distributed through Japan, is piled high in the headquarters of the Tokyo Prohibition Society, as the picture shows. Though the prohibition movement is being carried out on purely economic grounds, the "dry blotters" have made little headway in interesting the people, it is claimed.

Carl Van Wurden of Ashkosh, and Jack Callahan of Bismarck, wrestled two hours to a draw Tuesday night at the local armory. Callahan secured the first fall in 40 minutes of strenuous work; the second went to Van Wurden in 45 minutes. Both men were cautious during the entire match and when they came out for the third time they related the same careful tactics up until the announcement of the last five minutes when both opened up and kept the crowd on its feet to the end. The final time found each man still going fast, laying the pressure on the other. The match a real edge was made from Mt. Madison to meet the crowd at the armory next Tuesday, April 28. SABATINI DIGS IN HISTORY FOR HIS BACKGROUND

"The Carolinians" an Accurate Picture of Hectic Days of Revolution

BY ELEANOR WING

Sabatini needs few topics with which to construct a breathtaking plot. He can sketch a deathless hero in several well directed strokes. These virtues the reading public has come to take for granted, and perhaps, has grown to undervalue because of their familiarity. But even Sabatini slips up on details at times in the historical data which frames his tales. This is not true in "The Carolinians," his latest story, published in February by Houghton Mifflin and Company. The author has delved into the Carolinian annals of revolutionary lore and has unearthed true historical details, so that the story in its ensemble is an accurate picture of the volcanic Carolines of the war era. And the personnel is complete even to the set of its wig and the "fair" of its mus-tache.

One gains a rational vision of the two war parties—Tory and Whig—so nearly akin in type and yet so widely separate in views. Rutledge, leader of the Whigs, is a Woodrow Wilson of the Revolution, in his cold-blooded autocratic domination. But he is just, and the denunciation of the story is determined by that justice. Robert Mandeville is the sure Machiavelli of the times—self assured, cool unscrupulous and imperialistic. The governor, Lord William, is probably typical of the pacifists, in his anxiety to keep the peace. His foppish and affected manner so far to reproduce the stilted atmosphere of the age. He is a product of the eighteenth century and not a black sheep in it.

The love story of the hero and heroine, Harry Latimer and Myrtle Carey, is secondary to the political plot, of which Myrtle's father, Sir Andrew, is the focus. But the pageantry woven around the romance is exquisitely drawn and very exciting. The great ball, the spectacular duel between Sir Harry and Sir Andrew, the Mandeville wedding aboard the English frigate, and the defense of Fort Sullivan are epic scenes. The love story is not all ambrosial, however, because the Tory principles of Sir Andrew leave a bitter taste in the cup Myrtle drinks daily. She begins to doubt Harry and that doubt becomes mutual. Myrtle finally is accused of spying for the Tory side. The outcome has been remarked upon by the sense of justice which characterized John Rutledge, the Whig governor.

There is much of the "Scarlet Pimpernel" and the "Purple Mask" in this story. Every reader craves heroic actions and brilliant portraiture. And every careful reader enjoys more than anything else a story in which the details of history, living, and loving ring true.

Gossip About Book People

Guy de Maupassant is alive! This startling fact has been unknown to the public for many years but is finally unearthed by a press clipping bureau which has just written to "M. Guy de Maupassant, care of Alfred A. Knopf" to solicit his account for the Borsai Maupassant, the twelfth volume of which "The Horia and Other Stories" appeared in March, when told of this startling disclosure showed considerable surprise.

NOVELIST TURNS POET

Frederick Niven, author of Justice of the Peace (Boni & Liveright) and Ellen Adair, which is promised for future publication by the same firm, is a poet as well as a novelist. A collection of his verse, A Little Girl of Old Providence Town, by Amanda T. Curtis, Boys were interested in Walter Camp's "Book of Sports and Games" and J. G. Adams' "Harper's Outdoor Book for Boys." Interest in Camp's book has been increased since the death of the famous football coach.

DARROW IN NEW ROLE

Clarence Darrow as an attorney needs no introduction. He is not perhaps, so well known as an author. Nevertheless his idyll of boyhood, Farmington originally published in 1904 and for some time out of print, was reissued in March by Boni & Liveright in response to a definite demand.

IN THE MOVIES

The Come-Back by M. D. C. Crawford, recently published by Minton, Balch & Company, has been sold to the First National Pictures Corporation for immediate production. Milton Sills will play the part of Red Donlin, the welter-weight champion who makes history in the Maine woods. Mr. Crawford, who is off for Europe in a few days, has suggested to the Company that the picture should be taken on the Adirondack and he adds: "I wish that instead of going to the effete cities of Europe, I might be in that goodly company, although a March Maine is not exactly the Maine of my ideal. Perhaps if I return in time I may go up and show them how to get the frying size trout in which the doctor of the story so delighted—and quite properly—I am a poor lumberman and a worse fighter but there is nobody in that book that can fish in my class."

INTERNATIONAL HUMANISTS

When Floyd Dell sits chatting pleasantly under the same roof with Ida Tarbell—

When Harlin Garland strokes his picturesque gray moustaches not more than a bottle's throw away from Ludwig Lewisohn—

You may well know that a movement for the promotion of peace is quite seriously under way.

Certainly these literary persons had nothing in common, except a desire to eat, when they gathered in a banquet room at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, at the P. E. N. Club convention, at which literary notables of 14 nations were present.

SATIRICAL COMEDY

Rose Macaulay has discovered "Orphan Island" (Boni, Liveright). Last season she produced the delightful and satirical "Told By An Idiot," one of the most entertaining things of the year.

"Orphan Island" is in a much lighter mood, belonging to the "sprightly" school of writing, and one of the most amusing books one

Realism At Last Is Pushed South Across Potomac River

"Realism has crossed the Potomac."

In her newest and finest novel, "Barren Ground" (Doubleday, Page), Ellen Glasgow has at last punctured the sentimental tradition of the south.

It has been the custom to follow the fashion of Thomas Nelson Page, George W. Cable and E. Hopkinson Smith who painted the Southland with a sugar-streaked brush. Here was a land in which all women were "ladies" and fair to look upon; all men were cavaliers and gentlemen. But, as everybody knows in this workaday world, it is impossible for all people to be "ladies" and "gentlemen." And where this gesture of eternal gentility is made for a sufficient length of time there is good prospect of an indolent and disintegrating society—as Miss Glasgow so splendidly shows.

So we now learn that the south has cads and women of ordinary human emotions; humans who live, breathe and cry like the rest of us. Back of them, we also learn, is "the soil" even as in the middle west of the Wilda Cather, Ruth Sukow and Edna Ferber novels; even as in the northland of Knut Hamsun or the Poland of Ladislav St. Reymont.

From one of the decaying families comes Dorinda Oakley, of Pedlar's Mills, Virginia, brought up under the influence of "Aunt Mablette Green" who can "cast spells and remove warts." In the experiences of Dorinda are traced pictures of worthless parents and men who are entirely too fine gentlemen for work. How such circumstances can mould tragic struggle Miss Glasgow shows in a style the distinction of which reflects her 25 years of writing.

Through it all we see the "new south" rising and transforming and are ready to greet it as somebody we know rather than as the "reformed gentlemen" of the old southern tales.

UNSPARING BIOGRAPHY

Trotsky's book Lenin (Minton, Balch & Company) has aroused much interest both in reviews that it has received and in news articles in the leading newspapers. Elias Tolentin, in a feature review in the New York Sun, says of it that it is "the sort of book about a great man that the student of history has all too frequently

Then there arrives at this late day some typical moderns who investigate the Victorian manners and minds of the casuists. The possibilities for high satire are too obvious to need mention.

Gibbs' Newest Book In Demand

Sinclair Lewis' "Arrowsmith" Among Best Circulators in Library

"The Reckless Lady," by Sir Philip Gibbs was the book that was wanted most at Appleton Public Library last week, while second in popularity was "Arrowsmith," by Sinclair Lewis, the author of those two tremendously popular books, "Main Street" and "Babbitt."

Other books that were widely circulated last week were "The Thundefing Herd," by Zane Grey; "The Loring Mystery," by Jeffery Farnol, and Mark Twain's "Autobiography."

In the children's department the most desired books were "A Little Girl of Old Maine," "A Little Girl of Old Providence Town," by Amanda T. Curtis, Boys were interested in Walter Camp's "Book of Sports and Games" and J. G. Adams' "Harper's Outdoor Book for Boys." Interest in Camp's book has been increased since the death of the famous football coach.

"Arrowsmith," by Sinclair Lewis is the story of a man possessed with a passion for medical science. His name is Martin Arrowsmith, and he is a "Main Street" boy. After attending medical school he becomes a typical country doctor in the town where his wife's people live, finds himself fascinated by the miracles of modern laboratory science and grows into a fighter for the truth, whether in a great scientific institute or in a disastrous tropical epidemic.

This is Mr. Lewis' first novel in the two and a half years since the publication of "Babbitt."

Performance

—Consistent, Sustained, Dependable Performance

The best is not good enough—unless the car will do it every time and all the time.

A motor that will show great power—a car that will exhibit great speed, is all right so far as it goes, but what you want (and what you are entitled to receive, in a car today) is sustained power—long sustained speed.

And brakes—it isn't sufficient that your brakes function well for a time.

If they require frequent adjustments they are a nuisance—and a menace.

For, you never know when they are going to fail you.

Brakes that you have to worry about; brakes that need constant attention to keep them working; brakes that need adjusting every little while—are just as good as no brakes.

In brakes you need, above all things, dependability—certainty.

Rickenbacker brakes in average service have shown 20,000 miles without adjustment. Hundreds of owners tell us so.

More amazing, Cannon Ball Baker in his great drive from Coast to Coast—3,106.5 miles in 71 hours, 33 minutes, never once adjusted his brakes.

Again—he drove 1,558 miles, Canada to Mexico, crossed three mountain ranges—Cascades, Siskiyou and Tehachapi—at speed so terrific as to shatter all previous records!

Thousands of turns—hundreds of hair-pin bends on mountain switch-backs!

That's equivalent to at least 20,000 miles of average driving so far as brakes are concerned—and he never even looked at them.

There's uniform performance for you!

And this car—this motor—these brakes—will repeat that performance "every time and all the time" in your own hands.

Drive this Rickenbacker Six yourself—it will be a revelation to you.

We especially recommend to savings investors the 6 1/2% cumulative preferred shares of Wisconsin Electric Power Co., now one sale at $100 each—payable all cash or $5 monthly per share. This money goes to pay for plant additions at Lakeside, the chief source of electric energy for Greater Milwaukee. Dividends are paid January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1, each year.

FOX RIVER BASEBALL TEAM OPENS SEASON SUNDAY

Local Amateur Squad To Meet Carvers Of Oshkosh In First Game Of Schedule

Papermakers Slug Ball Hard in Practice Sessions and Expect to Whip Oshkosh Crew

Fox River Paper Co. baseball team will open the season for local amateur squads at 2:30 Sunday afternoon when it travels to Oshkosh to battle the strong Carvers. The Cream Co. squad, formerly the McMillans, in a valley industrial game. The game is a booster event for the Carvers. The local team has one of the strongest independent teams in years and expects to trim the Sawdust city crew. The Papermakers will hold a final practice on Friday when the starting lineups will be selected. This will be a hard job because of the excellent practice work to date, according to Manager C. O. Baetz. The boys have been slugging all kinds of pitching in the practice sessions and the "murderer's row" on the 1925 crew will make life miserable for any pitcher. Last year's crew batted over .500 with marks running from .230 to .267.

The Appleton lineup will be picked from the following men: Ashman and Brockhaus, catchers; H. Tornow, Sternagel, Refko and Kranzsch, pitchers; S. Tornow, Goshia, Radtke, Schultz, Beyer, Van Wyk and Last, infielders; Klundt, Kranzsch, H. Brockhaus and Baetz, outfielders. Manager Baetz lost a star pitcher when "Lats" Crouse went south to hurl for Stormy Kromer, but he is planning on signing another strong mound artist soon.

Oshkosh will start an all-star lineup which has been winning ball games for that town for a number of years. The team is managed by Carlton Elmer, Oshkosh high all-around athlete in star and 1925 valley conference basketball selection at guard. Hehne, former star hurler of the Maynard Steels of Milwaukee, is one of the mound hopes. Other well-known players ready for Sunday's struggle are Fallon, pitcher; Sommerfeld, catcher; Barell, Saff and Captain Schultz, infielders; Elmer, Pugh, Ref and DeBuhnke, outfielders.

Corbett Wins From Mascart On A Foul

Cleveland, O.—Edouard Mascart, European featherweight champion making his American debut here Wednesday night lost to Al Corbett, Cleveland when Referee Matt Hinkle awarded the bout to Corbett in the ninth of a scheduled 12 round bout on a foul. Mascart rushed from his corner in the ninth and planted lefts and rights to the body and head, his best offensive effort up to this time. He then hit the local boxer over three times during infighting and the referee could not intervene Corbett was on his right knee. Mascart had taken only one round the third, when he forced Corbett to retreat by mixing rights and lefts to the body and head. In all others except one which was even Corbett had a slight edge or better. In few rounds was Mascart the aggressor and on each occasion he was slowed down by Corbett's left jab. It was the first foul awarded by Hinkle in his forty years experience as a referee.

Gene Tunney's Youth No Advantage In Big Fight With Veteran Tommy Gibbons In June

Britton and Fitzsimmons Both Champions in Their Classes in Late Thirties

BY JOE WILLIAMS
New York—Unless Gene Tunney has improved tremendously since last fall he does not figure to take Mr. Thomas Gibbons when the two come together in June. Although there seems to be a growing belief in expert circles that the A. E. F. graduate is now a first-class, grade-A fighting man.

As this writer views the match, Tunney will enjoy but one advantage and that is youthfulness. He is some 10 years younger than the St. Paul Irishman. This may or may not be important. In this particular case we don't think it is.

Youthfulness is a fine quality to own, but it can be trumped. Old Bob Fitzsimmons didn't win the heavyweight championship until he was well along in the thirties. Frequently he met and best formidable opponents who were 10 to 15 years his junior.

Jack Britton was the welterweight champion at 35. For years he fought the debatable class of welters as if they were novices. Even now the sport pages tell of the old man's occasional victories out in the hinterlands where he's picking up stray purses at the expense of budding local hopes.

The last time we saw Gibbons fight was against Georges Carpentier at Michigan City, Ind. Coincidentally, the last time we saw Tunney fight was against the same Frenchman a month or so later at the Polo Grounds New York. Gibbons won his fight on points, Tunney by a knockout.

Against Gibbons, Carpentier fought a purely defensive fight and was on the run from start to finish. Carpentier had two things in mind: (1) he knew Gibbons was a hard hitter, and (2) he realized a knockout would kill the later bout with Tunney already booked.

It is not easy to knock out a man who is continually running away from you. It is hard to reach him with any kind of a punch and when you do land neither of the force is missing. The fighter who stands straight up or comes tearing in, is most susceptible to the sleep blow.

Against Tunney Carpentier fought an entirely different type of battle. Where he led but three times by actual count all during the Gibbons fight, he was actually the aggressor against Tunney. It was no part of a surprise then, that Tunney eventually wore him down and scored a knockout.

In doping the coming fight between Gibbons and Tunney, don't pay too much attention to the fact that Tunney scored a knockout and Gibbons didn't.

Personally, this writer believes Gibbons would have stopped Carpentier a whole lot quicker than Tunney did if the Frenchman had been willing to assume an aggressive attitude.

201 Schools Enter Drake Relay Games

Des Moines, Ia.—Unprecedented battles for track supremacy were forecast and eagerly awaited Thursday by thousands of followers of college athletics who reached Des Moines in large numbers for the sixteenth annual Friday and Saturday of the Drake Relay Carnival.

Everywhere the prophecy was heard that the two days competition among many of the best athletes of the country would produce numerous new records.

Sixteen states are to be represented in the meet, according to final statistics announced by athletic director K. L. Wilson Thursday. The list includes athletes from 25 universities and 50 colleges and the total number of institutions entered is 201 compared to 160 last year.

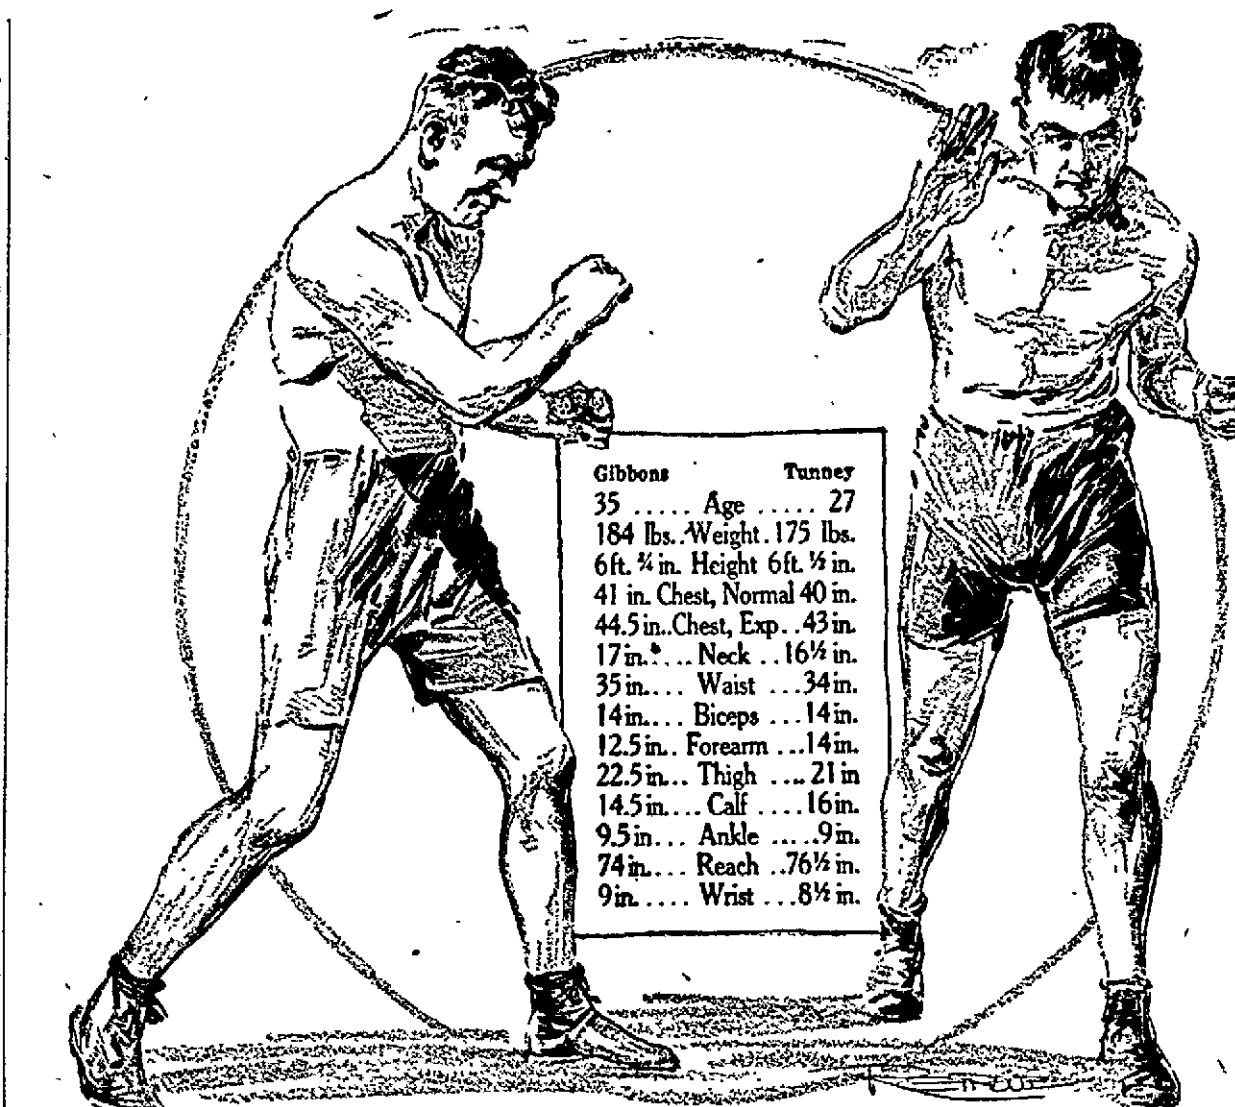

Then there will be Dehart Hubbard, Michigan; Layden, Notre Dame; Hill, Pennsylvania, and others out for places in the century and far-long canter. A most selective field.

Some keen competition is also expected in the pole vault and high jump events, with Brooker, Michigan; Sherrill, Penn., and Lancaster, Missouri, in the former, and Poor and Graham, Kansas; and Russell, Chicago, in the latter.

RELAYS HAVE BEEN INTERESTING The same may be said regarding the broad jump, shotput and javelin events, where a galaxy of star performers will fight it out. The middle distance runs will also find a classy field of entrants.

In the various relays, Michigan, Chicago, Notre Dame, Georgetown, Cornell, Penn., Syracuse and other schools are certain to show some real competition, too. Fact is, the relays rate as of much importance as do the individual events.

All in all, the 1925 Penn games should surpass in quality, as well as quantity, any previous affairs in the history of the great American classic. And it will occasion quite a bit of surprise if several records aren't shattered during the two-day get-together.

Expect Many Shattered Records At Penn Games

BY ART CARLSON

Like the world series in baseball, the Yale-Harvard game in football and the Cambridge-Oxford clash in rowing, the annual Penn relay carnival stands out as the blue ribbon classic in track and field athletics as a year-to-year affair.

True, the Olympic games hold a higher niche in the athletic firmament but they are only staged once every four years.

For many seasons the Penn picnic has been the big jamboree of the track campaign. It brings together the cream of the athletes and colleges but from various parts of the universe. It brings out an array of champions such as is seldom seen in competition of this kind.

RECORD ENTRY LIST
This year's fiesta, which will be staged April 24-25 at Franklin field, Philadelphia, the home of the University of Pennsylvania, promises to outdo any held in past seasons.

Over 500 institutions will send representatives to vie for supremacy. Among the list of celebrities will be an English nobleman, Lord Burghley, son of the Marquis of Exeter. He is the first nobleman to compete in the history of the games.

Lord Burghley is a hurdler and will no doubt clash with such celebrated American stars as Dan Kinsey, Illinois; Moore, Penn State; Wolf, Pennsylvania, and Snyder and Guthrie, of the Ohio State team.

A. E. Porritt of New Zealand is entered in the sprints. He has a good record and should make them all but. Orango, a Cuban, coached by Alvin Kraenzlein, former Penn lumina, will also display his wares in the dash events.

Then there will be Dehart Hubbard, Michigan; Layden, Notre Dame; Hill, Pennsylvania, and others out for places in the century and far-long canter. A most selective field.

Some keen competition is also expected in the pole vault and high jump events, with Brooker, Michigan; Sherrill, Penn., and Lancaster, Missouri, in the former, and Poor and Graham, Kansas; and Russell, Chicago, in the latter.

Cleveland, O. Edouard Mascart, European featherweight champion making his American debut, lost to Al Corbett Cleveland, when the referee gave Corbett the bout in the ninth round on a foul.

Charles W. Ya.—Governor George vetoed a bill passed by the legislature which would have legalized boxing matches.

"Y" Twilight Ball Loop To Reorganize

Organization of the Y. M. C. A. Twilight softball league will be completed at a meeting of representatives of various teams early next week.

The question of whether to have a six or four club loop will be settled at that time. If a six-club circuit is formed games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, but a four club circuit will play only on Monday and Friday.

Four teams from last year's group have already signified their intention of joining and two others are uncertain as yet. The former group

Lawrence Tankers Lose First Meet Of Season To Y. M. C. A. Fish Team

Dennymen Give Strong Triangle Squad Hard Battle in 33 to 29 Swim Contest

In a meet which was fast and closely-contested from start to finish the Y. M. C. A. swimming team took the measure of the Lawrence college fish Wednesday evening in the "Y" tank by a 33 to 29 score. The meet, the first of the season for both teams, was undecided until the final event, Zuehlke, Rich and McInnis did the heavy scoring for the Blues and Kevin and Winsey piled up most of the Triangle's points. The feature of the meet was the diving event between Kevin and McInnis. The Lawrence man nosed out his opponent by 2.2 points the judges' decision being 67.6 to 67.4 on the complete list of optional and required dives. Everette Wright acted as head judge. A. C. Denny as starter and Carl Thompson and Don Gebhardt as timers. A large crowd attended the meet.

The "Y" squad will meet the Fondy "Y" in a dual meet Friday night, but only boys under 18 will be entered by both teams as competitors. All members of the Appleton team will take part, however, in preparation for the meet with the Vausau "Y" later in the season.

Results of the meet were:
Plunge for distance—Kevin (Y). Zuehlke (L). Winsey (Y). 42.2 feet.
40-yard breast stroke—Winsey (Y). Rich (L). McInnis (L). 30.4.
200-yard back stroke—Brietung (Y). Zuehlke (L). McInnis (L). 13.7 sec.

SISLER OUT TO BREAK STRAIGHT HIT MARK

Chicago—Although he still has a long way to go Manager George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns has made a flying start toward his own modern record of 41 consecutive hits which he established in 1922. Sisler poked out his eighth hit in as many games in the ninth inning against the Indians at Cleveland Wednesday. Only twice in the history of big league baseball was Sisler's 1922 mark bettered once by W. H. Keeler of Baltimore in 1897 with 44, and once by W. Dahlen of Chicago, with 42 in 1894.

Orange Golf Squad Meets Fondy Highs In Practice Match

Powell, Murphy, Rector, DeYoung Battle Against Valley Champions Saturday

Appleton high school golf team will open its first year of interscholastic competition Saturday morning when the Orange squad meets the strong Fond du Lac high team at the River-view County club links in a practice game for the state meet. The Appleton squad took part in the state meet last year, but because of lack of previous competition made only a fair showing.

This year the Orange is scheduling matches with a number of valley schools. Last week Oshkosh high was beaten in a practice match after a hard struggle. The match ended in a tie and was won only on the second extra hole of the playoff. The local boys will go to Racine on June 5 and 6 for the state meet.

Fond du Lac high, Appleton's opponent Saturday, copped fourth at Racine last year, and with the loss of only one man, Captain Derber, expects to go higher this year. With an experienced coach, MacTavish Baker, one of the few in state high school golf circles, Fondy should go big at Racine and will make the local boys stop to keep in the running Saturday. The Fountain city crew of experienced golfers who are favorites in the local contest include Watson, basketball star, Moore, Steinbarth and either Bentley or O. Watson.

Appleton's quartet, vets of last year, will be John Powell, No. 1; Fred Rector, No. 2; Edward De Young, No. 3; Ray Murphy, No. 4. This same crew licked the Sawdust city boys last week and expect to give the valley golf champs a tough fight. The Fondy boys will be entertained by the Appleton squad at a dinner after the match.

Tracy Only City Supervisor Made Committee Boss

County Chairman Mack Makes Few Changes in Personell of Committees

Very few changes in committee makeup were made by Mike Mack, new chairman of the county board of supervisors, in announcing his committee appointments Wednesday.

New men head the committees on justice and constable accounts and on illegal taxes for the reason that Supervisors McHugh, Freedom, and Faust, Kaukauna, former chairmen, failed at reelection this spring. John Tracy is the only Appleton supervisor to be given a chairmanship. He succeeds Mr. Mack as chairman of the grounds and building committee. The entire committee, however, is made up of Appleton members.

Louis Jens lost the chairmanship of the printing committee as he is now a member of the county highway commission. Supervisor James Farrell, town of Kaukauna, who already holds another chairmanship, was succeeded by Anton Jansen as head of the committee on sheriff's accounts. William Beck, Seymour, retains his place at the head of the finance committee the most important committee of the board.

The constituency of the standing committees is as follows:

Equalization: George Kitchen, chairman, F. J. Schroeder, John Knapstein, Robert Carpenter, Alfred Mueller, John Nielsen, Bert McCann, L. F. Bushy.

Finance: William Beck, chairman, Peter Rademacher, William Tate, Anton Jansen, Joseph Doerfler.

General Accounts: Ferdinand Zocholl, chairman, Charles Schulz, William Tate, James Kennedy, F. J. Schroeder.

Poor Accounts: David Hodgins, chairman, Charles Wendt, F. R. Appleton.

Sheriff Accounts: Anton Jansen, chairman, John Diedrich, John Schmitz, A. P. Anderson, Fred Blohm, Justice and Constable Accounts:

M. Ryan, chairman, Bert McCann, David Hodgins, John Grafmeier.

Insane Accounts: Fred Drephal, chairman, John Schmitz, A. H. Diedrich.

Illegal Tax: Henry Guelff, chairman, Charles Wendt, Frank Emmons, L. F. Bushy, Fred Blohm.

Grounds and Buildings: John Tracy, chairman, P. H. Ryan, Joseph Bayer.

Printing: James Kennedy, chairman, Fred Drephal, John Sawall.

Ordinance: F. R. Appleton, chairman, Henry Fuerst, C. J. Jackson.

Asylum: Robert Carpenter, chairman, George Kitchen, John Knapstein.

Mileage: Alfred Mueller, chairman, John Nielsen, John Grafmeier.

Fines and Penalties: John Sawall, chairman, Henry Fuerst, Peter Rademacher.

County Sanatorium: James Farrell, chairman, Ervin Martin, A. P. Anderson.

Work House: Fred Rehchel, chairman, A. H. Diedrich, Frank Emmons.

Education: John Diedrich, chairman, Henry Guelff, F. Zocholl.

Agriculture: Ervin Martin, chairman, James Farrell, M. Ryan.

Salary: Charles Schultz, chairman, Joseph Doerfler, C. J. Jackson.

The county health committee remains largely the same. Mr. Mack is ex-officio chairman. The others are citizen members and include Judge A. M. Spencer, A. G. Meatinge, county superintendent of schools.

Mrs. James Wood and Dr. L. E. Spencer, Wausau, district state health officer.

CAN TALK AGAIN

Charles L. Flarstad of Superior, Wis., is able to speak again after being deprived of that faculty for three years. In 1921 his larynx was removed when cancer had set in. A short time ago Flarstad used an automatic larynx, a new invention, and has so mastered the use of it that he can carry on an audible conversation.

CLERK HAS BLANKS TO GET HOME EXEMPTION

Homestead exemption blanks have been received at the office of E. L. Williams, city clerk, who is prepared to help property owners entitled to the exemption to fill out the blank. This duty devolved upon Mr. Williams through action of the city council last week, when A. C. Rule, city assessor, asked for assistance.

Citizens who apply to the clerk for aid in making out the blanks should be prepared to furnish him with a description of their property, with the lot and block number and the ward. Mr. Williams said the necessary information is contained on the tax receipts, and advises citizens to take their receipts with them when making application.

Pinchot And His Wife Set Eyes On Seats In Congress

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania with his "bone dry" ideas for prohibition, is causing regular Republicans no little worry.

For it is reported that the governor plans to run for the Senate in 1925 on a strict prohibition platform and that if he wins he intends to make a bid for the Republican nomination in 1925.

And he is not going to make his race alone. For the reports that place the governor in the senatorial gossip also say that Mrs. Pinchot will travel along on the same platform in quest of a seat in Congress.

Pinchot is regarded frankly in Washington official circles as a first-class political pest because of his "bone dry" ideas on prohibition.

Prohibition is a question the vast majority of public men prefer to have left strictly alone.

POLITICIANS UNCERTAIN

The great mass of politicians are decidedly uncertain how their home folk would line up if the proposition was put to a test at the polls. Consequently they shrink from voting on it, they refuse to talk about it and they shiver when they hear anybody else discussing it, lest they be dragged in.

Yet it's a subject Pinchot is dazing into continually. If he treated it as a problem of his own, in his capacity of governor of the Keystone State, it wouldn't be so bad, but he persistently presents it as a national issue.

He nagged the late President Harding with it to the limit of his endurance and now it appears President Coolidge's turn has come.

An irritating feature of it is that administration advisors were just thinking the president had succeeded in getting the prohibition "buck" off his hands by cleverly announcing that the federal government can't possibly suppress bootlegging—that its job ends with the prevention of smuggling and illicit liquor withdrawals from government warehouses—that state, county and city authorities must look after those who actually sell the stuff to its "ultimate consumers."

The "wise ones" interpreted this as amounting to a local option declaration, since it was obvious that local officials would provide their own communities with just the amount of enforcement they wanted—no less and no more.

Now Pinchot's plans to come before his state and country with a "bone dry" platform tears things wide open in more ways than one.

In the first place, Pinchot is far from a "regular" Republican. He wants to take his toga away from Senator George Wharton Pepper, who is, Congressman L. T. McFadden, another "regular," would be wended out of the House of Representatives if Mrs. Pinchot should win, too.

At first thought, it may seem as if the Pinchots couldn't win on a dry platform in wet Pennsylvania. Still, the husband managed to get himself elected governor.

GOOD CAMPAIGNERS

He's a hard fighter, and he and his wife, who is a good campaigner, would make a spectacular fight. Moreover, Senator Pepper has another rival in Congressman W. S. Vare, and the contest's triangular character may count in Pinchot's favor.

As for the 1925 Republican presidential nomination, it isn't much of a secret that President Coolidge wants that once more for himself.

Hence he looks with little enthusiasm on Gov. Pinchot's scheme to boost himself into Senate prominence where the lightning will have a better chance to strike him.

American Football Is Unpopular In England

Oxford, Eng.—Englishmen who have seen the American game of football here do not like it. They found much to criticize and the consensus of opinion was that the game as played in England is better suited to the local temperament and the local climate.

While the game itself has found little favor, the remarks of its devotees on the sidelines have been greatly appreciated. "Attaboy," may yet come to its own in England, for this modern American interjection struck the Englishmen as possessed of great energetic quality.

Jewelers Keep Up Fight On Excise

There is every reason to believe that the excise tax of 5 per cent, which is now levied upon all jewelry, will be eliminated this year. It was agreed upon at the semi-annual meeting of the Fox River Valley Jewelers club at Fond du Lac Tuesday afternoon. H. A. Kampe of Appleton is treasurer of the club. The meeting was attended by about 30 persons.

The importance of keeping all jewelers interested in the abolition of the excise tax was stressed at the meeting. Only by continued interest and effort on the part of the jewelers to keep the matter before congressmen can the tax ever be abolished, it was said.

Other officers of the club are: President, J. R. Chapman of Oshkosh; vice president, J. P. Hess of Fond du Lac; secretary, A. W. Anderson of Neenah.

The club was organized 16 years ago. Two regular meetings and an outing during the summer are held every year.
